Technical analysis

Tata Steel Ltd share prices flipped into bullish trend after remaining in a consolidation phase in yesterday's session. It gave gap up opening today and kept moving higher, breaking all previous resistance zone. The volumes are also adding up adequately. On technical front, the prices are trading above its 20 EMA level indicating a bullish momentum. Supertrend indicator is showing bullish trend as green zone is active in it (as shown in image below). The prices are expected reach 138-139 level on the upside, while on the downside 133 can act as the support level. Thus on the basis of above analysis, we recommend TATASTEEL 135 CALL option.
