Technical analysis

Zydus Lifesciences Ltd share prices find some resistance near 1026 level, and witness some pullback. However, the price are still trading above its 20 EMA level and Supertrend indicator is still in green zone, indicating a possibility of further upside move. It also did not cross below its support are of 1000 level, and volume declined in this pullback. The prices are expected to continue its uptrend as we can count this pullback as a small profit booking, and with the support of the indicators we will continue to remain bullish in it. On the lower side 998 can act as the support level. Thus on the basis of above analysis, we recommend ZYDUSLIFE 1040 CALL option.
